On our trip to Thailand in November 2008, we met with Terry Manttan (General Manager) and Derek Lawson (Researcher) at the Thailand-Burma Railway Centre at Kanchanaburi. We had with us my father's note book containing the records of the cholera outbreak at Tonchan South. The Centre took a copy and we subsequently put the records on disc and this was sent to them.

Of particular interest was the identity of two gunners from the 125th Anti-tank Regiment, Royal Artillery who are commemorated at Kanchanaburi War Cemetery. It would appear from recent research that they are in fact the same person – see the following notes.
